

NTG EMPLOYEES RAISE MONEY TO AID IN HURRICANE HARVEY RELIEF

Atlanta, GA - September 8, 2017 -- After Hurricane Harvey devastated parts of the United States, Nolan Transportation Group employees came together to help the relief efforts taking place on the Gulf Coast States.

“Working together is important, but coming together to do good in our communities is at the heart of NTG. Our employees didn’t hesitate to give back and help the devastated areas after Hurricane Harvey. I’m truly proud of our employees’ heartfelt actions to help others in a time of need,” stated Kevin Nolan, NTG Founder & CEO.

In only a matter of hours, our Rhinos nationwide raised thousands of dollars for Hurricane Harvey relief. The money was donated to the Houston Flood Relief Fund, organized by J. J. Watts of Houston. The money is used directly on the ground to aid the victims of Hurricane Harvey as well as the community’s future reconstruction efforts.

To date, the Houston Flood Relief Fund has raised more than 37 million dollars for Hurricane Harvey relief efforts. Throughout the next two years, four organizations will receive the majority of the funds: Americares, Feeding America, SBP and Save the Children.
